

Everyday Science Online Test

Sr	Questions	Answers Choice
1	Bleach is another useful household chemical, it is often referred to as "chlorine bleach", but this is a misnomer, What is the main component of household bleach?	A. Sodium chloride B. Sodium hydroxide C. Hydrochloric acid D. Sodium hypochlorite
2	Which of these is a noble metal	A. Gold B. Calcium C. Magnesium D. Zinc
3	Which metal is extracted from hematite?	A. Copper B. Iron C. Zinc D. Potassium
4	Which of these metals often occurs naturally in the pure state?	A. Aluminum B. Lead C. Gold D. Sodium
5	Which of these metals is the best conductor of electricity?	A. Copper B. Silver C. Iron D. Gold
6	Which of these metals is magnetic?	A. Copper B. Cobalt C. Zinc D. Aluminum
7	By nature, what types are the oxides of most metals?	A. Acidic B. Basic C. Neutral D. Amphoteric
8	Iron sheets are galvanized by dipping them into what molten metal?	A. Zinc B. Copper C. Cobalt D. Manganese
9	Which metal is soft, malleable, and ductile, it is a poor conductor of electricity and is very resistant to corrosion, Many ancient articles manufactured from this metal have survived over 2000 years	A. Tin B. Bronze C. Lead D. Brass
10	The metal itself is not toxic, but most of its salts are; it has a melting point of 961.8°C, is highly ductile and malleable, and is widely used to make jewellery and ornaments.	A. Brass B. Gold C. Silver D. Platinum